DR. THACKSTON DEAD

PASSES AWAY SUDDENLY AT HIS HOME, IN FARMVILLE.

LIFE AND STRUGGLES.

His Career an Inspiration to Thos

FARMVILLE, VA., December 8 .- (Special.)—Dr. W. W. H. Thackston died sud-denly this morning at 8 o'clock. While for months past he had been regarded as less vigorous and active than for some time, yet he had not been considered an ill man, or one whose end seemed near.

He arcse this morning apparently well, mond, and his death causes very general enjoyed his breakfast, and while sitting regret here, especially among the old soldiers. "He was a true Virginian and a talking cheerfully with his family fell talking cheerfully with his family fell forward on the table and at once expired. Two physicians, who were immediately on hand, pronounced heart-failure the cause of his death. Dr. Thackston's life was an eventful one, and was closely enwrought with the history of Farmville. He came here in the thirtles to be taught by his uncle the silversmith trade. He had been deprived of education, and all the advantages enjoyed now by the humblest. Yet, by industry and untiring efforts, he became not only scholarly, but decidedly classic, devoted to literature and scientific research, and the possessor of a very rich vocabulary.

As a presiding officer Dr. Thackston had few equals, Quite a number of his addresses delivered before dental and other associations are extant and evidence rare fertility of mind and powers of composition. Our friend (the friend of all), the noble old Roman, whose erect and dignified carriage was but the type of the nobility of soul which characterized him, we will see, alas! no more among men. His life and example should be a helpful tentiretion to those who think themselves inspiration to those who think themselves handicapped in life's contests.

Yet, by industry and untiring efforts, he became not only scholarly, but decidedly classic, devoted to literature and acientific research, and the possessor of a very rich vocabulary.

Early in the forties, when even the first school of dentistry in the world, that of the Baitimore Dental College, had not been thought of, the talented and ingenious young worker in metals, the subject of this sketch, was experimenting in filling oid and in substituting new teeth. He attended the record session of that school, was almong its first graduates, and at his death was the eidest practitioner in dentistry in the world. In his profession no one had been in higher honor, he having held the first position in State and national associations.

For shore than fifty years Dr. Thackston practiced his profession here, and kept well at the forefront in the march of progress. Before the war his fellow, editizens, apprecialing his executive abilities, called him to preside over the interest of the town as president of the Board of Trustees, which office he held during the entire war. Under the new charter of the town he was elected Mayor

THE CURRENCY BILL

CONSIDERATION OF MEASURE TO BEGIN NEXT MONDAY.

REPUBLICAN HASTE CONDEMNED.

Democrats Taunt the House Majority With Their Change of Base on the Money Question-Insular Committee Provided For.

WASHINGTON, December House to-day adopted a special order providing that the consideration of the currency bill shall begin next Monday. By the terms of the order the general debate will continue until Friday. On Saturday, amendments may be offered, under the five-minute rule, and on the following Monday the vote will be taken.

The Democrats, Populists, and Silverlites presented a solid front against the adoption of the resolution, and every Re.

Mary Mayo, Calvan Bragg, Sue Tyler. By the terms of the order the general publican voted for it.

Mr. Dalzell, of Pennsylvania, from the Committee on Rules, presented the amendment to the rules, agreed upon by that committee, for the creation of a committee on insular affairs, to consist of seventeen members, to have jurisdiction "over all matters (excepting those affecting the revenues and the appropriations) pertaining to the islands which came to the United States through he treaty of 1829, with Spain, and to Cuba," and to increase the membership of the committees on Foreign Affairs, Merchant Marine, and Fisheries, Public Lands, Military Affairs, Naval Affairs, and District of Columbia from fifteen to seventeen members, and that of the Committee trict of Columbia from fifteen to seven-teen members, and that of the Committee on Territories from thirteen to fifteen, Mr. Bailey, of Texas, said the minority of the Rules Committee held no difference of opinion as to the propriety of the creation of the proposed insular commit-tee, but it did dissent from the idea that the committee should be created for the purpose of "permanently dealing" with the islands which came into posion of the United States through the Spanish treaty.

Spanish treaty.

Mr. Daizell replied that there was nothing in the resolution or in what he had said which intimated that the proposed committee was to deal with our possessions permanently. The resolution was adopted without

Mr. Dalzell then offered the resolution Mr. Dalzell then offered the resolution for the consideration of the currency bill. Mr. Dalzell said there was no disposition upon the part of the majority to unduly press the bill. It presented propositions whith had already been debated in the House. The Committee on Rules was of opinion that the rule offered ample time for debated.

GROSVENOR EXPLAINS. Mr. Grosvenor, of Ohio, in support of the rule, argued that it could be said that it would unduly curtail debaand consideration. As to the charge that members of the majority would find it difficult to explain their change of front, he said it was one of the proudest boast of the Republican party that it was wiser now than it was a good many years ago-fie said he would be sorry for any public man who had gone into public life a young man and had remained in it until young man and had remained in it until he was an old man, without knowing more than when he began. "The Democratic party," said he, "was the only well-recognized demonstration of a great organization which had survived a long period without learning anything." (Applause and laughter.)

CANNON MAKES CONFESSION. Mr. Cannon, of Illinois, in response to the thrust of Mr. Richardson, frankly said that he had voted for the free coin-age of silver in 1878, but he had done so because of the impending resumption of specie payments, when the Democratic party was howling for flat money.

Mr. Dalzell closed the debate by recall-ing some of the rules under which the Democrats had forced through important bills in the Fifty-second and Fifty-third Congresses. He referred particularly to the adoption of the conference report in the Fifty-second Congress upon the tariff bill, which "the greatest Democrat since Andrew Jackson, Grover Cleveland" (derisive laughter on the Democratic side), "had pronounced a piece of Party perfidy

Mr. Richardson attempted to reply to these statements, but Mr. Dalzell refused to yield, and at the conclusion of Mr. Dalzell's remarks the previous question was ordered and the roll was called on the adoption of the special order.

STRICT PARTY VOTE. The special order was adopted-163 to 141-a strict party vote.

BRILLIANT CHARITY BALL.

Night a Notable Event. The charity ball, given last night in he Roof-Garden ball-room of the Jefferson Hotel, was a brilliant success in every particular. The stage was handomely decorated with paims, and the ball-room, ablaze with light, gleamed with the softly-tinted gowns of the ladles in attendance. There was a large contingent who greatly enjoyed looking upon

AID CAME PROMPTLY.

The Destitution of a Worthy Family Quickly Relieved.

A sad case of destitution came to light phatically from the proposition advanced by Mr. Dalzell that the bill to be considered contained nothing radically new. For the first time in the history of the country it was proposed to statutory provision to fasten the gold standard upon the country.

If such a suggestion had been made two or three years ago, he said, half the other side would have been up in arms against it. He considered the rule unusual, and unjust to the minority. But one week was to be given the minority to study the bill, while the members of the majority had had six months in which to prepare themselves.

Mr. Richardson taunted the majority was without precedent or defence. He made an elaborate argument to prove that it was a proposition to hastily determine a question to which the best and most careful consideration should be given.

The minority was entitled to present its objections, after mature deliberation.

Interesting Point Settled.

CHARLESTON, W. VA., December & (Special.)—The Supreme Court of Appeals to-day heard arguments in the mandamus case against Warden Hawk, of the penitentiary, who recently refused to receive at the penitentiary Elias Hatfield, from Mingo county, who shot and killed Deputy-Sheriff Elias.

The court handed down an opinion which sustained Governor Atkinson in granting a thirty-days' extension to Hatfield's lawyer, in order that he might make up the record and appeal the case to the Supreme Court. This decision settles the question of the authority of the Governor as to his right to give an extension of time in such cases as the one disposed of. Hatfield, who is now in jail at Moundsville, will be taken back to Mingo county to await the results of his appeal for a new trial.
